Last night burglars entered the little building on North Limestone street just north of Warder & Barnett's mill. A part of the building had been occupiend by a cigar store owned by W. F. Payne, but he moved out last Monday leaving nothing but empty cigar boxes. However the place was secured well and looked just as though it was still occupied. The enterprising burglars broke in the door and went through the empty boxes, securing nothing but a half box of cigars that had been overlooked in the removal

A Reaper Burned.

A Champion self-binder belonging to Henry Adair, who lives on the Glade, about six miles east of London, was destroyed by fire between midnight and 4 o'clock last Friday morning. The machine was in a shed a short distance from the house. It was nearly new, cost $280 and insured in the Home of New York for $200. Mr. Adair is unable to say whether the burning was the work of an incendiary or the result of a stroke of lightning. Mr. A. says there were a couple of young tramps at his house a few weeks ago who applied for work, but failing to obtain it they let off a volume of ugly cuss words at modern machi ery, which they said kept the poor man out of work, but he had no assurance they had anything to do with the burning .- London Democrat.

Old Father Time Disappointed. Old Father Time Disappointed.

Good Deav on Jones is really one of the sait of the earth, healdes having almost peeped into the spirit world. Maisrious surroundings and snawolable exposures sowed the seeds of dienase in his powrful frame, that two years ago culminated in a hacking cough, sailow countenance and conscisted checks, which all betekened an early departure to a better world. His sorrowing friends could easily discern the gaunt form of old time in the background ready to wring his gleaming scythe and gather him home. Despite settled into sertainty just as his physician had providentially secured a case of Dirpr's Puss Matr. Witsaky, and he hastened to prescribe it as a last resort. The effect was simont magical, and today the universalty beloved man enloys a hearty old age, blessing the means that restored him to health and usefulness. Full dats of above facts furnished privately to yellow the content of the set of the second contents.

Mr. Watron's Card. To the Editor of the Globe-Reput lic

DEAR SIR: -- I greatly regret that Mr. Waren has announced himself as the minister who preferred the Devil to Dr. Leonard, as a political leader. In publishing the item to which he takes exception, I had carefully shielded him, making the matter strictly impersonal, and less than half a dozen persons knew who was the minister with such peculiar taste. He is mistaken in supposing Mr. Young made street salk of the matter, using his (Mr. Warren's) name in connection. He did not.

It was perhaps natural for Mr. Warren to suppose that all who read the Era would goess that he was meant, but it was an error. I think it safe to my that of the fity thousand who read that number not more than fifty ever thought of Mr. Warren, and they would have forgotten the matter had not he reminded them.

My editorial did not purport to be the whole interview. But the points I gave were the only new ones and they impressed me as so very original I thought it well to give ther to the public, not for the sake of injuring Mr. Warren (had I desired to do that I should have given his name), but to points moral.

I did not warn anybody against being "contaminated by" Mr. Warren or against the unnamed minister, but used the incident simply to show that a man might be sound in heology, but unsound in politics.

Mr. Warren's lengthy "card" shows no incorrectness in our report. He only adds a multiplicity of words. It is unfortunate that Mr. Young did not appreciate Mr. Warren's peculiar manner of jesting," but when a minister states that he would rather vote for the devil than for a brother minister, and repeats it after being requested to modify it, laymen must be ex-cused if they suppose he means what he says. Mr. Warren denies having admitted that the principle of the Prohibition party was sound, but with the same dip of ink he says he believes in Prohibition, and as his party declares that to be the "great and only prin-ciple" of the Prohibition Party, he makes a distinction where there is no difference.

I regret that Mr. Warren went out of his way to publish a base and baseless slander against a brother minister, the Rev. W. Mills, the man to whose "criminal act" he refers. The matter in question was thoroughly investigated in the courts and Mr. Mills most honorably acquitted, and that by a court that had no political pref-erences in his tayor. Instead of firing shots into a crowd of his fellow-citizens, he fired over the heads of a mob who were attacking his house in the middle of the night.

Yours truly,
R. S. Thompson, Editor "New Era." Colliding Engines.

Quite a lively little smash up occurred last evening at the Panhandle and Dayton & Richmond crossing at Xenia, just north of the Panhandle depot. An engine was standing on the D. & R. track just where it crosses the Springfield branch of the L. M. and a brakeman, supposing it was moving on, gave the signal for the Springfield a commodation which was standing north of the crossing to come on into the depot. The train came on and struck the D. & R. engine, knocking off the top of the cab, the steam whistle and the valve. It created a horrible racket and as everyone imagined the disabled engine was just about to go up in steam and smoke there was some lively sciambling of passengers from the Springfield train. The D. & R. engineer was not on his cab at the time and the fireman got out in time to escape the wreck There was no personal injury done.

ROWLUSVILLE.

Mr. J. B. Steinbergar, of near this place, attended the funeral of a lady friend at Wilmington, Ohio, last week.

Mrs. Ida Clemans, Mrs. Mary Holman, and Mr. Orrin Miller, of Springfield, were the guests of Mrs. George Steinbergar last week. Mr. Leonard Karg was knocked senseless to the ground during the storm last Thursday evening. Mr. Karg was standing in the door at the blacksmith shop when suddenly a beavy wind blew one of the large doors shut, striking Mr. Karg severely. He lay unconscious for a short time only. He was very fortunate in escaping without any serious injuries.

We have heard a great many stories, but we believe this one has no equal. An old gentleman related this to your scribe, that he had heard many stories about the corn growing so fast that it could be heard cracking. He said to try the experiment he went or one evening just after a heavy rain. He also discovered that no sign of a shoot was on the stalk. He took a tall slender stick and planted it in the ground beside the hill of corn. The following morning he went out to see how much it had grown, and to his surprise he found two large ears of corn on each stalk. He also found that a nubbin had grown on

The New Carlisle camp meeting is in full progress. There was a very large crowd out last Sabbath and a most excellent sermon was preached by Dr. Leonard. It is a great mistortune to the Doctor that he should allo his name to be used by designing politicians to vent their spleen on the Republican party. In his sermon be did not intimate that he was a Prohibitionist. Before his nomination for governor, he could not preach a sermon without quoting some pet temperance phrase or making some observation of that kind The Doctor should not thus shandor the temperance cause in the pulpit. Next Sabbath will be the crowning day for the camp meeting. Able ministers will be there and everything else will be done to make it a success as well as a time of great

Prof. Donham will soon be one in this community. He has been employed by the Bethel Township School Board as Township Superintendent of Public Instruction. He comes to us from Greene county. In a recent conversation with Superintendent Cox, of Xenia, and Principal McMillen, of the same place, they said that they much regretted to loose Mr. Donham, as he is a splendid worker among teachers in County Institutes and other asso cuations. We can make use of him for the same purpose, and will be glad to welcome him among us. The Bethel Township School Board is possessed with a large amount of brains, and backed up with the "solid cash. They always "fetch 'em."
